“ Dari Ann's candle burned ever so brightly that it's hard to understand why it flickered out when she was still so young and full of life. She was vibrant, cheerful, and of course, always beautiful. That's the first thing most people said about her throughout her life: a magnificent looking Indian girl. But she was as beautiful inside as she was on the outside. When we were students in the Commerce High School Class of 1965, Dari Ann stood out no matter who else was there or how large the crowd. She was witty, daring and had a self-deprecating sense of humor. And she was a super cheerleader! While the years took a toll on some of our high school classmates, Dari Ann remained drop-dead gorgeous, and her lifelong manner of quietly helping others seemed to grow ever stronger. So her candle's burned out, but its' glow will be ever-present when her true friends think about her. Sending smoke and blessings to her family with the knowledge that she will be at peace. “ What a loss of a beautiful person, inside and out.💎 I met Dari Ann through the Caregiver Coalition (I work for the Alzheimer's Association in Tulsa.) When I first met her I was awestruck by her physical beauty.💎 I asked her if she had ever been a model and she said yes.💎 I always gravitated to her at meetings because of her fun personality and warm, welcoming nature.💎 We talked about "one day" getting together in Tulsa for an outing.💎 I am so very sorry to hear this.💎 What a beautiful light she shone on the world.💎 Her family must be so proud of her legacy of helping others.💎 Earth Cry, Heaven Smile.💎 So grateful our paths crossed. In sympathy, Cathy Sullins, Education Coordinator, Alzheimer's Association, Tulsa, OK

“ My thoughts and prayers are with you.💎 Dari Ann was so beautiful and had a fabulous smile.💎 I remember when I was young and Dari Ann and my sister, Nancy, would chase the boys off with a broom when they were mean to us younger kids in the neighborhood.💎 What a great memory.
