“ Dear Tallulah and Family,

I remember Gene as a young man coming in the back door at Fannie and Aves' house and laying his green cowboy hat next to the cream seperator, greeting everybody, and then wanted to know what there was to eat.

He was a good man, with a good wife and good children. That's probably because he came from a good family.

Love to all of you,

“ Goodbye Gene old buddy. We shared lots of stories and laughs over the years. Apparently the good Lord had a vacancy to fill and only you were qualified to do the job. I expect to see you again in the not too distant future so save me a place at your table and if it comes handy, put in a good word for me. Joe Treadway

“ This man was truly one of a kind. As the western writers would say, he was, "A man you could ride the river with." I would trust him with my life. A truer friend never existed. Our condolences to the family.
