“ Josh you were my first son in law. You and Angel gave me my precious first grandson Gabriel. You were very kind hearted to me. The last time I seen you my husband had died. You were kind enough to come check on me. It breaks my heart that this has happened to you. We all love you and will miss you very much! I pray your at peace and I pray for your family.

“ When I heard of you leaving us I immediately called it false news. NO WAY could it really have been YOU! I JUST saw you! You were riding your bike and I couldn't believe how great you looked! It was almost like you were going backwards in time.. you looked so young and full of love and life. I almost turned around. It's a decision I'll FOREVER regret, not doing so. I'll always hold onto that moment. I hope to always see you that way. So healthy and full of color. You were tenacious and passionate in your life long search to just find love and happiness.. and more deserving of it than most humans. To turn back time... ...to have you playing guitar in the background of my home... to hear your laugh... to see you again.. What I wouldn't do. I'll always wonder what may have happened if I would've just turned around that day.. I love you, man. 🙌

“ Josh you were always so kind to me even in my darkest moments. We lost contact long ago. I never told you how much of a great friend you were to me. When I heard your passing I was in a daze I never got to tell you how just amazing you are. I wanted to come here to say that I love you bro. May you fly high with the angels God knows you deserve it. Jarred I hope you are doing okay. I know this all to well. Thank you Jarred for coming to my brothers funeral you have no idea how much that helped me through the service. Wiping my tears as they fell from my face. I hope I can some how help with the pain. Hugs to all of you. 🌹🌸
