“ Josiah was always so willing to help and protect anyone, the first time I met him was years ago when I was with my oldest daughter's father and we lived in a small house behind my oldest sister's house where he and a lot of his and her friends would hang out. Me and my ole man at the time got into it and he ran out of the house like a tornado in the wind and was ready to fight if needed to lol .. needless to say there was no fighting, but ever since then he has had my respect and gratitude for the rest of his days..
