“ I didn't really get to know my dad until I gave birth to my only child Passion Danielle at age 26. I knew then that my dad was a Christian & his family served the Lord & I knew that my daughter & myself needed to be a part of this family . I remember going to a gun show he was at & there was a bible on his table. When someone would walk up he would tell them that the word of God was free but the guns would cost you. My dad was an evangelist for God. He would tell everyone he met about Jesus Christ. I want to be able to do that in honor of him & most importantly in honor of Jesus Christ our Lord & Savior. I always knew that I wasn't just here on earth to do nothing. I'm here to spread God's word. I only hope I can do it as well as my dad.
