“ I will miss my fishing bud but most of all a good friend. My condolences to the family. I know it was a long hard road but he is now at peace.

“ I really love this picture of Wayne. It reminds me of the man who adored bass fishing and playing cards with friends and who would never turn down a good grilled steak. A man who worked long hours but would take time to teach us kids sword fighting or the art of a angle shot in billiards. I am proud of his service to this country and always looked up to his career wanting to do something really important like being trusted to protect everyone while they slept as he did or to help launch space travel into the 21st century. I loved visiting Wayne, Eileen and Tim growing up. I was really lucky to have the three of them in my childhood.
