For some reason my memory didn't post correctly, probably due to myself. Anyway, I loved Uncle James & Aunt Opal very much. Rest in peace.

“ A. Very special man indeed, heart of gold, I didn't know him long but he was one of the kindest softhearted men I've ever known , always thanking me for helping him, I loved having little chats with him, made my day so much happier to just spend a little time visiting. Love you sir, my prayers are with your family here on earth because you have moved on to a happier life. Wish I could have had the chance for one more quick hug

“ James was a wonderful man, I am proud to say I knew him, not many people are as honest and fair as he was, a truly unique individual.

“ I didn't have the privileged to know your dad and grandfather, but I know he raised a great daughter and that speaks volumes of the greatness of his character.

*Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.
Psalm 30:5*

The sunset of a Godly life is but the dawning of an eternity with Jesus. When the night has passed, praying the faith we have in Jesus will lead your heart back to hope, to peace and to joy. For we will see our loved ones again, when Jesus calls us home also.

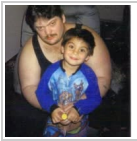

Praying for you both to have this comfort, peace and joy, Love you both, Grandma, Pat

“ Goodbye my friend...you asked me "How can you love a worthless old man like me?" My answer...how could I not? Mr. Bond, you gave me strength when I had none. You made me remember my faith when I had forgotten. You made me smile when nothing else could. You touched this hardened soul and gave it a purpose again. I love you Superman rest in peace.

“ This was an amazing man! He was so kind all of the time and so soft spoken! He will be missed! I was so glad to know him! He had so much talent with his hands! James, I know you have gone home. You and Opal are together now!
